How much to feed your puppy

The amount that your puppy needs to eat is dependent on its breed, age, weight, level of activity and overall general health. The following table is provided as a guide to help you determine the right feeding regime for your dog. Adjust as necessary and consult your veterinarian if you have any questions on the appropriate amount to keep your pet in optimum health.

| SIZE OF PUPPY | TYPICAL WEIGHT RANGE | CUPS PER DAY* |
|---------------|----------------------|---------------|
| Small         | 5 - 10kg             | ½ - ¾ cup     |
| Medium        | 10 - 20kg            | ¾ - 1 ½ cups  |
| Large         | 20 -35kg             | 1 ⅓ - 2 cups  |

* 1 metric cup is approximately 140g

Transition Guide

When introducing your puppy to a new food with its different tastes, textures and ingredients, we recommend that you transition them onto it over a course of a week.

Ensure that your puppy has access to fresh clean water at all times.
